

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

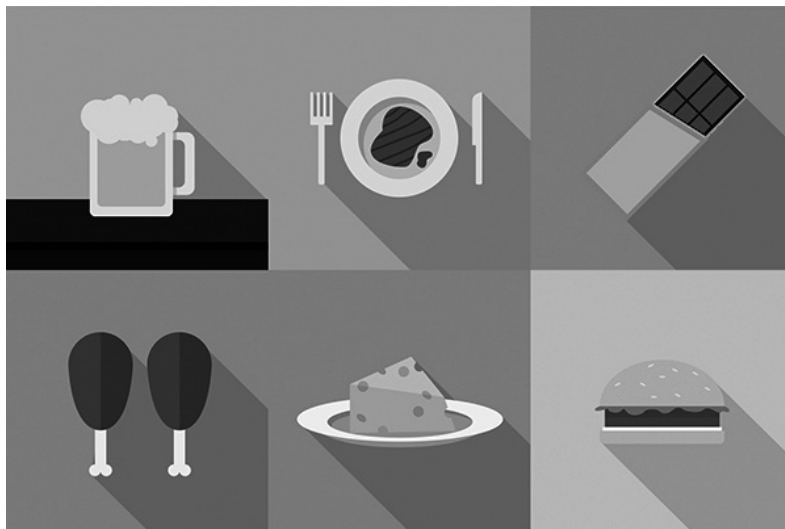

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

The party's getting started!

Learning Outcome

Identify and describe personal and regional eating habits and cooking in a range of communicative situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about food and cooking.
- I can respond politely to suggestions and offers.
- I can talk about quantities and amounts.

Ask your partner:

- Do you like to have parties at your place?
- Are you a good host?
- Do you get nervous around too many people?

Let's Explore!

Luther the saxophonist brought his instrument. It's going to be a fun party!

* You can add -ist at the end of an instrument to talk about who is playing it. Example: "saxophonist"

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: Hey, V! I think I hear footsteps in the corridor! How much time do you need?
- Vanessa: The cooker stops in five minutes. I'm getting some appetizers ready in a bit.
- Sally: I'm going to hold the fort while you battle with that pulled pork. You look determined with that cleaver in your hand. Would you like a drink?
- Vanessa: I could do with a glass of wine, please.
- Sally: Sure. There you go. That should take the edge off.
- Vanessa: Here they come! Get the door!
- Sally: I'm going! Don't freak out!
- Vanessa: You'll handle the guests! I'm going to put the finishing touches on the poutine and the pulled pork.
- Sally: Hey guys! Nice of you to come!
- Luther: Hi. I'm Luther. Vanessa invited me over.
- Sally: Oh, you're the saxophonist she told me about. I see you brought your saxophone, too!
- Luther: Yeah. I always carry it with me. You never know what will happen at a party!
- Sally: That is true. Can I get you a bottle of beer? A can of soda?
- Luther: Beer would be great, thank you.

Let's Practice!

Would you like another drink?

Instructions: Check the sentences that discuss food and cooking.

___ I'm going to hold the fort.

___ I'm getting some appetizers ready.

___ The cooker stops in 5 minutes.

___ I hear footsteps in the corridor.

___ I'm going to put the finishing touches on the poutine.

___ You never know what will happen at a party!

Let's Practice!

Would you like another drink?

Instructions: Proofread the sentence. Correct the mistakes. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor. Use capital letters where necessary.

1. I gues I could have another glass of wine.
2. I wood like a can of soda, please.
3. I don't thank I should have another beer.
4. Thanks. I stink I'd like a beer.
5. Yes, please. That shoulder take the edge off.

Extension Activity

Describe a professional kitchen.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Go online and find information on a professional kitchen in a restaurant or a hotel.
- Find out about the different items and utensils used in the kitchen.
- Find out how much food is prepared in a professional kitchen.
- Write a description of the kitchen (10-12 lines).
- Read your description aloud.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I write about how to prepare food.

☐ ☐

I talk about amounts and quantities.

☐ ☐

I read a description aloud.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to hold the fort (expression): to take care of something temporarily e.g. I'm going to hold the fort while you battle with that pulled pork.
- to battle (verb): to handle; to resist something e.g. I need to battle with that pulled pork!
- cleaver (noun): a large knife used to cut meat
e.g. This cleaver is very useful to chop meat.
- determined (adjective): having made a decision and resolved not to change it e.g. You look very determined with that cleaver in your hand.
- to take the edge off (expression): to reduce the effect of something unpleasant
e.g. A glass of wine should take the edge off that stress.
- to freak out (verb): to become irrationally nervous
e.g. I'll get the door. Don't freak out!
- the finishing touch (expression): the final detail completing a piece of work e.g. I need to put the finishing touches on the poutine and the pulled pork.

Learning Points

Talking About Future Actions

There are many ways to talk about the future. Generally, there are four verb tenses you can use, each specific to a particular situation.

Function	Will + infinitive	be going to + infinitive	Present Continuous	Present Simple intention	Sure, I'll give you a ride to the shop. (decided at the time of speaking: spontaneous offers, promises, decisions)	Sure, I can't help you on Saturday. I'm going to help my girlfriend move into her new apartment . (decided before the time of speaking, but not yet fully planned)
prediction	Sure, I think you'll find this book very interesting. (based on personal judgment, opinion or intuition)	My sister is going to have a baby. (based on present evidence or the predicted event is very near and is sure to happen)
arrangements			I'm flying to Paris on the 23rd of this month. (plans and arrangements have been made)	The boat leaves at 7 a.m. every morning. (this is a regularly scheduled departure)

Learning Points

Respond Politely to Suggestions and Offers

When someone offers suggestions, it is important to respond politely.

Remember to use the modals could, should or might to suggest something.

Here is a list of expressions you can use to give suggestions:

- You might want to ...
- Would you mind ... ?
- You should ...
- You ought to ... (strong request)

Offering Suggestions	Responding to Offers and Suggestions
• Would you like ... ? • Can I get you ... ?	• I don't think I can ... • I guess that could ... • That would be ... • I would ...

Examples:

• Ann: Would you like a drink?

Bob: I could do with a glass of wine, please.

Ann: Can I get you a bottle of beer?

Bob: Beer would be great, thank you.

